

SPOUSAL/LIFE PARTNER (SLP) FORUM

BENEFITS OF SPOUSAL/LIFE PARTNER (SLP) FORUM

WHAT IS AN SLP FORUM?

- » An SLP Forum is structured just like an EO member Forum
- » SLP Forums follow the same communication protocols as EO member Forums, including Forum Mindset (Gestalt) language and confidentiality
- » SLP Forum members are trained like EO members and have access to Forum resources

EO CHAPTER BENEFITS

Higher member renewal rates

Members whose SLPs are in SLP Forums renew at a higher rate than those with non-participating SLPs.

Enhanced EO member recruitment and sponsorship efforts

The more people who are familiar with EO and the value of the organization, the more people who are able to promote EO.

Dynamic and successful chapter-sponsored family events

SLP Forum members form tight-knit communities that tend to be engaged and social at family functions.

Greater EO member involvement through SLP engagement

The more involved a family member is, the more involved the EO member tends to become in their EO chapter.

Expanded pool of expertise within the chapter

SLP Forum members are an incredible resource upon which the entire chapter can draw to improve its overall health and vitality.

EO MEMBER BENEFITS

SLP involvement in EO enhances the EO member's experience

When an SLP is in an SLP Forum, they are more supportive of the time and resources their partner invests in EO because they have a deeper, first-hand understanding of the Forum experience.

A happier, more content SLP

The Forum experience offers great benefits to active participants. When an EO member's SLP is part of an SLP Forum, the SLP's happiness and contentment typically increases as a result.

SLPs gain a new understanding of confidentiality protocol

EO members whose SLP participates in an SLP Forum enjoy greater understanding and tolerance of EO's confidentiality protocols at home. The SLP understands why the EO member can't share what is discussed at their own Forum meetings.

SLP FORUM MEMBER BENEFITS

Increased visibility among EO members and the greater business community

Involvement in an SLP Forum, and EO in general, gives an SLP greater exposure to the business community and enhances their network.

Comfort and confidence at chapter-sponsored family events

When an SLP is involved in an SLP Forum, they have a built-in peer group with whom they can comfortably engage at family functions.

Participating in a Forum is a benefit in itself

SLPs can take advantage of EO's proven Forum best practices at no additional cost.

Greater knowledge of, and access to, other EO programs available to SLPs

SLP Forum members are more likely to learn about, and take advantage of, other family-oriented events and programs offered through EO.
