

Lifeline

Think of your life from the day you were born until today. Think of the high points, the low points and the significant events that shaped your life. Plot each of these points on the graph below.

